Dear Applicant,

Thank you for expressing an interest in a teaching job at SPPS.

We are proud of our school, which is a warm and welcoming community that provides a nurturing and engaging environment for all. Our values underpin everything that we do at South Park, and we are looking for teachers who will model and promote these. Our school is well thought of in the local community and in January (2024), Ofsted visited the school for a full inspection and graded the school as 'good' in all areas.

We have several vacancies across the school and welcome applications from newly qualified (ECT) and experienced teachers who will embrace our school values and complement and enhance our community. Please indicate in your written statement, which key stages you would like to be considered for.

Additionally, we are keen to interview candidates who might be interested in taking on a subject leadership or project responsibility. Subject leaders at South Park are rewarded with a TLR2A and TLR3s for specific projects, as well as leadership release time. If you would like to be considered for this, please ensure that you refer to the subject leader job description/person specification in your written statement.

It is an exciting time to be joining South Park, and I would urge you to arrange a visit and see this for yourself. We are within walking distance of Seven Kings Station (served by the Elizabeth Line) as well as numerous bus routes.

Yours faithfully,

Mr A Tarrant
