Responsible for: Teaching	Hours:
Responsibilities: Class Teacher	Subject: Class Teacher

This job description may be amended at any time, following consultation between the Head Teacher and member of staff and will be reviewed annually. Priorities for the year will be negotiated and highlighted.

Core purpose

To provide a high-quality educational experience for all students, including provision for health, safety and welfare in line with current teacher pay and conditions document and National Standards for Teachers

General duties and responsibilities

- To carry out the duties of a teacher as set out in the School Teachers Pay and Conditions Document.
- To continue to meet the required National Standards Teachers.
- Responsible for the overall running of the class, including all planning and assessment, and the organisation and teaching of educational programmes, behaviour management and welfare of the students.

Strategic direction and development of SEN provision nationally and regionally

- Understand changing perceptions of SEN as reflected in national and local contexts, and having a working knowledge of terms such as “inclusion”, “whole school approach”, “outreach support”, “multi-disciplinary co-operation”, “partnership” and their possible application within various SEN contexts.
- Understand key issues as they apply to students with SEN such as stereo-typing, equal opportunities, disability, rights, civil rights, and associated legislation
- Take account of the expectations of parents/carers and work with them to secure appropriate education for their child

- Understand the structure, roles and responsibilities of those who contribute to SEN programmes including voluntary, advocacy, and statutory agencies
- Seek to integrate as appropriate multi-disciplinary or specialist advice into the teaching and learning process
- Access and use relevant research, inspection and school self-evaluation evidence to inform assessment, curriculum and teaching arrangements.

Identification, assessment and planning

- Take account of the strengths and limitations of different forms of assessment, and make effective use of more specialist and multi-disciplinary techniques to plan and deliver appropriate curriculum teaching and support
- Use the agreed targets in Individual Education Plans (IEPs) to develop criteria by which to judge students' progress, and to establish a timescale for review and evaluation, whenever possible, including students and parents/carers in the key processes and procedures, and ensuring all understand what targets have been set and why
- Prepare and write and present accurate assessment reports for reviews which give direct evidence of any added value provided by teaching and can be understood and used by teachers, other professionals and parents/carers, and contribute to multi-professional assessment and placement decisions, where required
- Be aware of the advisory and support roles of the range of specialist services and agencies and, where appropriate, work jointly with them on planning, programme implementation and report compilation.

Effective teaching, ensuring maximum access to the curriculum

- Have knowledge of, and keep up to date with, the most current and up-to-date national initiatives for the age range teaching and the Agreed Syllabus for Religious Education
- Use knowledge of the curriculum and assessment criteria (including formative, summative and statutory) to develop, adapt and evaluate teaching strategies for the maximum benefit of students with SEN
- Set small and achievable targets for students whose progress is not clearly demonstrated when set solely against conventional assessment criteria
- Identify individual learning outcomes and develop, implement and evaluate a range of approaches to help students achieve the learning outcomes
- Use, manage efficiently and evaluate techniques, specialised aids and resources, including ICT where appropriate, to give greater access to the curriculum and assist in the promotion of independent learning and living skills
- Take account of the effects on learning and behaviour of medications, medical treatments and therapeutic regimes
- Work collaboratively with specialist and non-specialist staff to make effective use of teaching and learning environments, including specialised environments (eg hydrotherapy pools or sensory rooms)

Development of communication, literacy and numeracy skills, and ICT capability

- Plan a structured programme which includes a wide range of actual and simulated opportunities for development, taking into account the physical, linguistic and psychological aspects of communication in order to determine a student's level of receptive and expressive language skills
- Work collaboratively with other staff and support agencies to extend students' listening, speaking, reading and writing skills
- Know and apply the effective pedagogy relating to the teaching of literacy, numeracy, ICT and study skills, and make effective use of first-hand experience and contexts beyond the classroom to help them develop these skills in everyday living.

Promotion of social and emotional development, positive behaviour and preparation for adulthood

- Work with parents and carers and all involved agencies to agree approaches to each student's personal development, taking account, as appropriate, of cultural differences and ethical concerns
- Structure learning tasks taking account of individual learning styles so that students are clear what is expected of them and are encouraged to persevere when difficulties arise
- Develop positive, consistent and non-confrontational approaches and techniques (including with regard to conflict resolution and restraint) so as to promote positive relationships between students and adults in line with the Relationship (behaviour) Policy
- Use opportunities to exploit the whole curriculum and the general life and work of the school (including linking curricular and extra-curricular accreditation) so as to enhance emotional growth and a mature response to real challenges
- Promote students' knowledge and skills in personal, social, health and sex and relationship education to help them meet the challenges of their personal, social, family or leisure experiences
- Encourage the development of independent living skills, prepare students for further training opportunities post-school, and assist them in the development of skills appropriate to adult life.
