INTRODUCTION TO OUR COMPUTING DEPARTMENT

Computing has enjoyed a resurgence in terms of success and growth, but we are aware of the difficulties we face with the constant challenge to build on our success against a backdrop of an ever changing educational climate. This does not mean that we are afraid to implement new approaches to our teaching and learning; we use technology in innovative ways and have robust systems of monitoring and intervention.

The teaching in the department has been judged as outstanding in three OF-STED inspections. The department has very talented, dedicated and knowledgeable staff and most importantly, we are a team. We collaboratively plan learning opportunities, evaluate lessons and moderate assessments to support each other to ensure the very best outcomes for our students.

Computing is taught as a discreet subject in mixed ability classes.

KS3 students have 2 hours per fortnight in key stage 3. At key stage 3 the curriculum covers digital literacy, ICT and computer science, game design developed through Microsoft Arcade, website design developed using HTML & CSS and spreadsheet skills, to name a few units of work.

KS4 students have the option to take either the WJEC Vocational Award in ICT or Edexcel Computer Science GCSE.

Computer Science A level was introduced in 2018. With students progressing onto study Computer Science and related degrees at university.

Computer Science is rising in popularity with the successful development A level provision We wish to appoint a colleague who is passionate about their subject and is able to enthuse and motivate our highly ambitious students across all key stages.

Facilities: Within the department there are 3 fully equipped ICT rooms.

Extra-curricular activities: We have regular lunchtime activities that include coding club and Esports club, where we have a huge uptake in participants. We have competed in the British Esports Championships, where we had a number of teams participating.

The successful candidate will need to be a team player with enthusiasm, high levels of subject expertise, determination to succeed and a sense of humour.

This is a fantastic opportunity for you as well as the school and we look forward to meeting you soon.
