Visitors often comment on the positive and friendly atmosphere in the school and on the hard work of staff. Learning Support Faculty

The Learning Support Faculty at Farlingaye High School consists of a team of High Level Teaching Assistants and Learning Support Assistants, who work with students both in small groups and in mainstream classrooms.

We have a wide variety of students with special educational needs, ranging from communication and interaction, cognition and learning, social, emotional and mental health and various physical needs. There are currently 49 students with educational healthcare plans and over 192 on the school's SEN Register. The work of the Higher Level Teaching Assistant in the school is co-ordinated by the SENCO, Julie Moore.

Our policy is that students with special educational needs should be as integrated as possible into the life of the school. All members of the Learning Support faculty have an important role to play in this since much of their work is based in mainstream classrooms, however our Learning Support Assistants/HLTA's are also expected to work with students on an individual or small group basis, and for some of the time with students with complex physical needs who require one-to-one support. They work with all years from Year 7 through to Sixth Form – Year 13 and in a variety of subjects across the whole school curriculum base, liaising with mainstream teaching staff to meet the needs of the students.

Higher Level Teaching Assistants are expected to be flexible, show initiative and, most importantly, be able to form good working relationships with staff and students whilst being careful to encourage independence. It is essential that you feel as comfortable working with our younger students as with our older ones in their GCSE and 'A' level classes and be confident to teach small groups of students, teaching alternative KS4 courses, core subjects and as requested by the SENCO or as required by the school.

Both our Higher Level Teaching Assistants and Learning Support Assistants act as a lead LSA for 3 or 4 students. They maintain the graduated support plans of the students and are able to work on the targets in lessons, recording progress in the student's folder.

Short team meetings are held twice weekly to discuss the needs of the students and any problems that may have arisen. Staff training is also carried out through the school CPD programme.

Both our Higher Level Teaching Assistants and Learning Support Assistants play an essential role in the education of our students with special educational needs and their work is valued in the school as a whole.

We would welcome applications if you are already qualified as a Higher Level Teaching Assistant or be close to completing the HLTA qualification with experience of working in a school or you may be working in a similar role and are willing to undertake the formal training required to fulfil the role.
