ABOUT HINCHLEY WOOD SCHOOL

Hinchley Wood School is located in North East Surrey on the border of the London Borough of Kingston. We are an oversubscribed school serving our local area. We are fortunate that our students are highly aspirational and have exceptionally positive attitudes to learning.

We are proud to be a truly comprehensive school with a passion for ensuring all pupils are recognised for their talents and achievements and are able to be successful at school and beyond. As a school, we strive constantly to improve on our previous best and this mind-set has enabled not just individual achievements but continuous whole school successes too. Year on year our students achieve outstanding outcomes and make significantly positive progress against national figures. Exam results for 2023 placed our school within the Sunday Times List of the Top 20 comprehensive schools nationally. The DfE judged the pupils' results as 'well above average' with a Progress 8 Score of +0.87 (October 2023). At A Level results also showed superb outcomes achieved by the pupils with 36% of all grades A/A* and 88% of all grades achieved at A*- C.

OUR SCHOOL ETHOS

During our students' time with us, we aim to develop their determination, independence, enthusiasm, confidence and consideration, and these values are actively promoted as they run through our work each day. They are important to us because they create the ethos of our school where we all work hard with a positive attitude and where others are treated with respect and kindness. We are looking to recruit staff who are committed to our core vision and values which set high expectations for all members of our school community.

To really see our vision and values in action, take a look at the Newsletters on our website and you will see what happens every day in our school – all made possible by staff who are professional, creative, and enthusiastic and by students who display positivity and a willingness to learn and try new things.

TEACHING AND LEARNING AT HINCHEY WOOD SCHOOL

Our approach to teaching and learning is simple – we strive to ensure that all of our teachers, no matter which point they are at in their career journey, are equipped with the pedagogical knowledge and skills to teach consistently excellent lessons so that every child gets the best deal in every lesson, every day. Whilst we are always looking to make our teaching and learning even more effective, we do this in a measured and considered way. We do not believe in fads, and every attempt to improve pedagogy is rooted in a wide range of research and evidence that has been tried and tested.

Continuing professional development is at the heart of our teaching and learning offer at Hinchley Wood School. In our most recent Ofsted report, the inspectors commented that ‘professional development is entirely focused on the individual needs of staff...time is spent thoughtfully developing teacher pedagogy.’

Visitors to our school always comment on the calm and purposeful atmosphere and this means that teachers have the environment where they can teach well with staff and students enjoying their lessons.

INCLUSIVITY

Whatever a child’s strengths, starting points or interests, we aim to fulfil their potential, to enable them to enjoy school and to know that they are part of a caring community where they matter and where they are valued. We work with children across the ability range and with very differing needs - this is a really important part of our ethos. Our National Autistic Society Cullum Centre provides specialist provision for 20 students and allows them to have a personalised curriculum within the mainstream school.

Students are well supported by our team of expert LSAs allowing teachers to develop their teaching practice and become inclusive practitioners. Our dedicated Inclusion Team offers personalised guidance and resources to help staff effectively cater to the diverse needs of our students.

BEYOND THE CLASSROOM

Central to the school is a strong pastoral system to support our students. We put positive relationships with students and families at the heart of our work and we aim to provide a certainty and clarity of approach so that expectations, rewards and consequences are clear to all. We place great emphasis on their personal and social development and we endeavour to ensure that there is a wealth of support for all students who need this from our knowledgeable Safeguarding Team, Mental Health and Wellbeing Team and other practitioners such as our 'Body Coach' or counsellor.

Student Leadership is another real beacon of our school and along with the Student Council, Leaders in Diversity Group and a number of Student Ambassadors we listen to student voice and develop invaluable leadership skills for the citizens of the future.

All teachers and students are allocated to one of our four houses: Frank, Nightingale, Hawking and Luther King. Good competition is fostered throughout the year with many events.

One of the standout strengths of the school is the thriving extra curricular programme which is well established and allows students to take part in a wide variety of activities from sport to art and maths challenges to drama productions. Uniquely this is also mirrored for staff with an exciting enrichment offer for all staff who choose to take part, be it yoga or gym work to learning to knit or photoshop!
