The Rehabilitation of Offenders Act 1974

The Rehabilitation of Offenders Act was introduced to make sure that you are not discriminated against when applying for jobs, if you have been convicted of a criminal offence and you have not re-offended for a period of time since the date of your conviction.

The Act allows certain types of convictions to be treated as "spent" after a certain (variable) period of time. You are no longer legally required to disclose to us convictions that have become "spent", unless the post you are applying for is exempted. In the case of more serious crimes, such as where the sentence is more than 5 years imprisonment, the conviction can never become "spent" and must always be taken into account.

Exceptions Orders exist to protect vulnerable client groups such as children, young people, and the elderly, sick or disabled. In such cases, we are legally entitled to ask you for details of all convictions, even if they are "spent" or "unspent" under the Rehabilitation of Offenders Act. All details of convictions will be disclosed by the Disclosure and Barring Service for the preferred candidate.

Cautions, reprimands and final warnings are not criminal convictions and are not covered by the Rehabilitation of Offenders Act. They become "spent" immediately and we may only consider them when appointing to exempted posts.

All applicants who are offered employment to a post are subject to a criminal record check from the Disclosure and Barring Service (DBS check) before the appointment is confirmed will have to provide details of cautions, reprimands or final warnings, as well as convictions.

Having an "unspent" conviction will not necessarily bar you from employment. This will depend on the circumstances and background to your offence(s).

For all other criminal convictions you will only need to disclose any convictions that are not 'spent'. A conviction is regarded as spent if you have served a 'rehabilitation period'. These periods vary according to the sentence received as follows:

Sentence	Rehabilitation Periods (spent after)
	Age 18 or over when convicted	Under 18 when convicted
Prison and Young Offender Institution - sentence of 6 months or less	7 years	3 years
Prison and Young Offender Institution - sentence of more than 6 months - 2 years	10 years	5 years
Fines, compensation order, probation (for people convicted on or after 3 Feb 1995), community service, combination order, action plan, curfew order, drug treatment, reparation order	5 years	2 years
Borstal (abolished 1983)	7 years	7 years
Detention centres (abolished 1988)	3 years	3 years
Absolute discharge	6 months	6 months

Sentences for which the rehabilitation period varies:

Probation order (for people convicted prior to 3 Feb 1995), conditional discharge, bind over, supervision order, care order	Until the order expires (minimum period of 1 year)
Attendance centre orders	Length of the order plus 1 year
Hospital order	2 years after the order expires (with a Minimum of 5 years from the date of conviction)
Suspended sentences are treated the same as for the full sentence
Consecutive and Concurrent sentences An offender may be sentenced at one time for several offences. If the court decides that imprisonment is the right penalty for more than one offence, it can order this to run concurrently or consecutively. If a person is sentenced to two terms of imprisonment of six months each, to run concurrently, the person will be subject to a rehabilitation period of 7 years. If they were ordered to run consecutively, they would be subject to a rehabilitation period of ten years.
Extension of Rehabilitation periods Rehabilitation periods may be extended if a person receives further convictions while an original rehabilitation period is still running. If the second conviction is for a summary offence, i.e. an offence that can be tried only in a magistrates' court, then the first rehabilitation period is not affected and both rehabilitation periods will run their separate course. If however, the second conviction is more serious and could be tried in crown court, then neither conviction will become spent until the longer rehabilitation period has expired. Where the original sentence resulted in a disqualification, prohibition or other penalty, the rehabilitation period will not be affected if the person is convicted of a further offence.

Safer Recruitment Checks

We are required to ensure that the confidentiality and safety of our service users is protected and we therefore undertake the most stringent vetting of all our staff. This includes, Disclosure and Barring Service check (DBS), referencing, scrutiny of previous employment history and checks against our client and employee records along with the Childcare Disqualification Declaration. For teachers, a Teachers Prohibition Check will also be completed. A trace against these does not mean that applicants are unsuitable for employment. It does, however, allow us to explore and address any potential conflicts of interest and also assesses suitability for employment. Signing your application form indicates your consent for such checks to be undertaken.
