The Business Department

At Q3 Academy Great Barr, Business Studies is a very popular subject and classes are full of positive, motivated students who often want to pursue a career in business. Students, especially at sixth form, are highly driven to achieve the best grades in a subject with which they connect easily.

Our curriculum is well-planned and structured. The students are always willing to take part in partner work, group work, and whole class simulations. Our business classrooms are a place where business comes alive.

We have planned our Schemes for Learning, so that key concepts and themes are delivered in the first year of the course and the more interconnected nature of business is focused on in the second year.

Key skills for success in business are cultivated from the start of the course. Communication both verbal and written, developing analytical or evaluative responses and understanding the key terminology that underpins our discipline are part of lesson delivery.

As every subject we teach is examined, preparation for exam success is also vital and students comment how well prepared they feel for the examination season.

Many of our students go on to pursue an apprenticeship or a degree in a business-related subject. It is a department both students and staff enjoy being a part of!
