Introduction from the Headteacher

Dear Colleague

I am delighted that you are interested in a position at Fulston Manor School and, over the next few pages, would like to show you what you could expect from working with us at Fulston and what the surrounding area has got to offer.

We are a large non-selective school with an outstanding reputation for developing young people to make a positive contribution to their community. We are a very welcoming school that operates as a family with a strong sense of pastoral care linked to our house system. We have four houses (Cromer, Hales, Morrison and Stanhope) in Year 7 to 11 with vertical tutor groups in each house. This means small numbers of each Year Group in each Tutor Group have a dedicated tutor who they see every day.

The Sixth Form is a thriving environment for students Post 16 and we have outstanding facilities for students as well as excellent pastoral care and careers support to enable students to make the next steps into further education or employment.

We offer a wide curriculum from Year 7 which allows young people to excel in all areas, including the creative arts, and students are encouraged to develop a love of learning and engage with their studies fully.

The school ethos of “Everybody Matters, Everybody Succeeds, Everybody Helps” drives all that we do here to ensure our young people both achieve the best possible qualifications and also grow and develop their sense of self and their understanding of our world.

We have always believed that a child will only learn effectively when happy and, without losing sight of the need to secure the best possible qualifications, every effort is made to ensure that children are well cared for and given a huge range of opportunities, both inside and outside the classroom.

The crest of the school carries the Latin inscription “Artes Discant Amitiae”, which translates as “May they learn the art of friendship”. In the midst of all the pressures to succeed and the drive for achievement, we are most proud of the fact that we are a community which has never lost sight of the importance of positive human relationships and it is this, perhaps, above everything else that continues to ensure the enduring quality of the school.

Fulston Manor Academies Trust

FMAT was formed by Fulston Manor School in 2013, three years after the school became a single academy in October 2010.

Fulston Manor itself has enjoyed, for many years, an excellent reputation, being heavily oversubscribed, attaining very high levels of academic achievement. An increasing involvement in school to school support and other collaborative ventures led to the school becoming a National Support School. The commitment to partnership working made the creation of a multi academy trust a logical step, providing a further way in which school improvement could be achieved.

Although Fulston Manor has supported schools right across Kent, participated in the delivery of national conferences and been involved in forging strong international links, when developing the multi academy group the intention was always to work with local schools in order to provide sustainable improvement and enhanced provision for young people across Swale. And so, together with our Sixth Form hub, we therefore welcomed South Avenue Primary School into the trust which fitted perfectly into the framework and ensured a solid foundation across all three phases of compulsory education.

South Avenue Primary School aims to ensure that the children will be happy, inspired, and eager to learn during their time spent at Primary school. The vision "We Discover, We Learn, We Grow" aims to make the child ready for a lifetime of learning.

Our partnership school offers a broad, balanced curriculum which takes account of each individual child's needs and interests. Staff try to create a happy, caring community, which welcomes newcomers, and where each member, whether child or adult, is respected and where consideration of others is of prime importance. As with Fulston Manor it is felt that learning can only begin when children feel secure and happy.

Our Vision and Values

Sittingbourne, Faversham and the Isle of Sheppey

Swale is a local government district with borough status in Kent and is bounded by Medway to the west, Canterbury to the east, Ashford to the south and Maidstone to the south west. Swale Borough Council is based in Sittingbourne. The district is named after the narrow channel called The Swale, that separates the mainland of Kent from the Isle of Sheppey, and which occupies the central part of the district.

Most of the southern half of the Borough lies within the Kent Downs Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty, whilst Sittingbourne and the Isle of Sheppey forms the concluding part of the Thames Gateway growth area.

There are five towns in the borough: Sittingbourne and Faversham on the mainland, and Sheerness, Minster and Queenborough on the Isle of Sheppey.

Swale is a mainly rural borough, containing a high proportion of the UK's apple, pear, cherry and plum orchards as well as many of its remaining hop gardens. Faversham, a medieval market town, is also home to Britain's oldest brewers, Shepherd Neame.

Sittingbourne owes its name to a modernised version of an observation on its location. The town's name came from the fact that there is a small stream or "bourne" running underground in part of the town. Edward Hasted, writing in the 1790s in his History of Kent states that :

Sittingbourne was anciently written Sedingbourne, in Saxon, Saedingburga, i.e. the hamlet by the bourne or small stream.

There is evidence of Roman settlement in the area before 2000 BC, with farming and trading tribes living inland to avoid attack, yet close enough to access the sea at Milton Creek. In AD 43 the Romans invaded Kent and, to make access quicker between London and Dover, built Watling Street, which passed straight through Sittingbourne.

However, more modern ways to travel sees the borough being serviced by excellent rail links which means travelling from Sittingbourne to London can be completed in just over an hour and to Dover in 52 minutes.

Surrounded by small villages and in the heart of The Garden of England, Sittingbourne is a perfect town to base yourself to explore the countryside, the history of the area and the continent.
