Dear Applicant

A very warm welcome to the Quest Academy. We are a great place to begin or further your career.

At the Quest we know that having great people is our biggest asset and we work very hard to make sure that the posts we offer, the professional development we provide and the environment we create are the cornerstones of a highly successful Academy on a journey from 'good' to 'outstanding.'

Our motto, 'learning changes lives' succinctly describes our mission: to improve the life chances of all of our young people by enabling them to achieve outstanding qualifications and develop the personal characteristics necessary to lead fulfilling adult lives.

We believe in the broadest and richest educational experience and have a highly developed and universal enrichment offer, numerous trips and visits, a wide range of clubs and societies, sports fixtures and a thriving Duke of Edinburgh award scheme.

I know that the atmosphere and climate in the Academy are key considerations for staff.

At the Quest we have created a disciplined environment with well-behaved children. Levels of attendance are above the national average because our students enjoy coming to school and we have very well crafted systems of support in place to make sure that the Academy runs efficiently. We are oversubscribed and results are above the national average in all key stages.

We believe we are outstanding in the support we provide for staff development. We have achieved the 'CLPD Gold Mark' for our professional development work and we run in-house training sessions every week to update and further our colleagues' skills.

We are also very fortunate to occupy a stunning 17 million pound building with extensive grounds which we moved into in 2014. Every part of the school is brand new and across the campus we have invested in nearly one million pounds of cutting edge IT equipment to support all aspects of Academy life.

Geographically we are ideally located just 15 minutes from the M25, forty minutes from central London by train and Croydon itself is undergoing major investment as a place to work and live. Rents are relatively low for London and the town centre, with venues such as Boxpark and the Southend restaurant quarter, mean there is always something to do.

I do hope that our vacancy will be of interest to you. We welcome visits at any time to see us at work so that we can show you all of this in person.

With best wishes.

Mr A Crofts
Executive Principal

The LGB works to a Scheme of Delegation approved by the Trust's Board of Directors.

Department Description – Maths, Business and Computer Science

The Computer Science Department, housed within the faculty of Mathematics and Business, has grown in recent years from supporting a handful of students through A Level to an established department running both GCSE and A Level courses. We expect an increasing number of students to be studying GCSE or A Level Computer Science in the coming years. Furthermore, Computer Science is now taught throughout KS3. The Department currently comprises of one teacher of Computer Science; we are looking to increase this under the leadership of the wider Faculty. The Department teaches Computer Science in purpose-built classrooms, each housing high-spec personal computers, smart boards and visualisers. The aim of the Department is to enable each student, irrespective of their starting point, to reach their full potential and to gain significant insight into the world of Computer Science both inside and outside of the curriculum. To achieve this, we strive to make our teaching clear, positive and inspiring. Students are assisted through well-differentiated lessons and through academic interventions available out of lessons. Students are taught programming in Python as their main language alongside other appropriate languages for the course. At both GCSE and A Level, we currently follow the AQA specification. The Academy has shown considerable investment in Computer Science in the last few years and continues to do so as the Department grows in strength and stature. More and more students are leaving wishing to study Computer Science at University and the Department works closely with the Higher Education and Careers Services to facilitate this.

KS3

Computer Science is taught in one lesson per week for every student throughout the school. In these lessons students learn the fundamental skills and principles required for further study.

KS4

All students study core Computer Science, while some also study the subject as a GCSE option. The course offered is the AQA GCSE in Computer Science, specification 8525. The course covers both theoretical and practical programming aspects of computer science, with programming being used to support the theory covered. Students use the high-level programming language, Python while using other platforms to make them true experts.

KS5

We offer two different courses at KS5. A two-year A-Level course in AQA Computer Science, taught in 5 periods per week, and the Pearson BTEC Level 3 National Diploma in IT also taught in 5 lessons per week.

The course offered is the AQA A-Level in Computer Science, specification 7517. The course covers fundamentals of programming including the concept of data type, including primitive data types and complex data structures, following and writing algorithms, methods of capturing, selecting, exchanging and managing data to produce information for a particular purpose.

In addition, students will develop the following skills; problem solving, design, write and test programs to either a specification or to solve a problem, articulate how a program works, arguing for its correctness and efficiency using logical reasoning, test data, and user feedback, use abstraction effectively and to appropriately structure programs into modular parts with clear well documented interfaces to model selected aspects of the external world in a program and apply computing-related mathematics.
