Teaching and Learning at The Judd School

A vision for our students

The primary aim of The Judd School is to develop students who are open and independent learners who will achieve highly and be prepared to be lifelong learners, in a rapidly changing world. To achieve this aim teaching at The Judd School must develop students with the following characteristics:

- empathetic – respecting others' point of view, interests and beliefs
- inquisitive – being curious and creative; keen to challenge themselves, including using their imagination to stretch themselves as learners, beyond what comes easily
- collaborative – learning in teams
- courageous – taking risks and learning from their mistakes or failure
- reflective – taking responsibility for their progress by planning, reviewing and improving their own learning
- reasoning – using logic and rationality to construct effective arguments, and identify flaws in others' arguments

All activities provided by the school, curricular and extracurricular, should support the development of these characteristics in our students; all teachers are additionally expected to seek to develop their teaching, consistent with The Judd School Teachers' Standards.

There is no one preferred teaching style at The Judd School and teachers are encouraged to develop individual teaching styles which are effective and suitable to their subject specialism.

About the School

The Judd School is a selective Voluntary-Aided Grammar School comprising over 1,400 students; boys in Years 7-11, with a co-educational Sixth Form. The school maintains a long tradition of academic excellence and has high expectations for all its students. Above all, it has a reputation for being a very caring and happy community. It places an emphasis on both individual and group achievement and promotes a full range of activities, which includes a very high standard of sport, music, drama and engagement in the school and wider community.

The expectation is that all students leaving Judd will have gained success academically, achieved a well-balanced and confident approach to life and will be prepared for the challenges of leadership in the 21st century. Ofsted graded the school as outstanding in all categories in May 2015.

Sir Andrew Judd's Commercial School was founded in 1888 in East Street, Tonbridge, by the Skinners' Company out of funds provided by the Sir Andrew Judd Foundation and moved to its permanent home in Brook Street in 1896. It became known as The Judd School early in the 20th century and under the 1944 Education Act became the first Voluntary-Aided Grammar School. Today it still has close links with the Skinners' Company, whose members make up a significant proportion of the Governing Body.

The school has a Development Office and endeavours to develop a culture of philanthropic giving from friends of the school. Almost £3 million has been raised from private sources in the last 15 years, a testament to the high esteem in which the school is held. The capital building plan is ambitious and extensive.

There is a highly active Judd Parents' Association (JPA), which gives valuable help to the school as well as offering social occasions for parents and staff. In recent years, the JPA has provided substantial funds to support the Music department, the refurbishment of the Sixth Form Common Room and two new minibuses, amongst many other projects.

The school expects all students to participate in some of the many opportunities offered. In addition to the myriad sports teams and music ensembles, there is a very wide range of school clubs and societies. These include Chess Club, Christian Union, French Film Club, Greek Club, Theatre Club, Voluntary Service Unit, Engineers' Club, Young Enterprise, Potions Club, Puzzle Club, Ancient History Society, Medical Society, Debating and various subject-specific clubs/clinics. Students participate in the Duke of Edinburgh's Award Scheme and many achieve Silver and Gold Awards before leaving school.

Pass rates are consistently high; both at A Level (87% A*-B) and in GCSE (over 50% 9&8), and the school has regularly featured in the national newspapers as one of the top state schools in the country. Ofsted has always judged the school to be 'outstanding'.

The school has a very strong record of university entry, including Oxford and Cambridge (averaging over 20 successful applicants each year in recent times), and the majority of leavers attend Russel Group universities. The Governors award a major scholarship and up to four leaving exhibitions to outstanding Sixth Formers going on to university. Each year, two students are apprenticed to the Skinners' Company. All students are entitled to join the Old Juddian Society and to keep in touch with the school through the OJ Community website and attendance at social events.

Local Area

The Judd School is located in Tonbridge, a medium sized town in the heart of Kent. Tonbridge is a historical market town with plenty of manor houses and listed buildings; it even has its own castle!

Tonbridge has great transport links, it is close to the M25 motorway and London is easily accessible by train. Direct trains to Charing Cross take just over half an hour from Tonbridge station meaning you can have the best of both worlds and experience the peaceful town close to the countryside and can be in central London in under an hour.

The school is also only 3 miles from the historic and picturesque spa town of Royal Tunbridge Wells which has been a tourist attraction for over 400 years. Tunbridge Wells boasts many attractions such as Dunorlan Park, Chalybeate Spring and the Seven Wonders. You can also experience the town's great shopping and there are many excellent restaurants and bars in which to enjoy a drink and meal.
