About the English Department

The English Department at Formby High School is staffed by a talented team of professionals who recognise effective English teaching as the cornerstone of student progression across the curriculum. We are dedicated specialists who work creatively and constantly strive to improve our practice and the experiences of our students.

Our department seeks to foster a love and understanding of the English language and notable works of literature amongst students of all ages and abilities. We understand the power of our subject to help students navigate our culture and chart their course in the world.

The aim of the department is to guide students to success, both academically and towards an enjoyment and love of literature and its possibilities. We want our students to become effective communicators in both formal and informal contexts in order that they are empowered to engage fully in our wider society. We hope to inspire students to develop their skills beyond school and into their adult lives.

There are currently seven members of the team which has a broad range of age and experience. We all share a respect and support for each other's contributions to this vibrant department.

An integral part of our meetings is the sharing of good practice and resources, so that our aim of a collegiate approach is clear and maintained. We work together as a team in order to broaden our students' experience within English and its wider applications through the provision of enrichment activities. At present we have a popular writing club, a poetry club, a reading club, regular theatre visits and visits to places of literary significance. We work closely with the school librarian to support students in their wider reading and engagement with texts.

At GCSE we teach the Eduqas English Language and English Literature courses to all students, with a policy of 100% entry. At A Level, we offer Edexcel's English Language and Literature combined course and their English Literature specification. We also teach the very popular and successful WJEC Film Studies at A Level.

This is a rare opportunity to join a supportive, settled and successful department who are looking forward to welcoming a new colleague.

The school is situated in leafy Freshfield, situated in the north of Formby. Trains run every fifteen minutes between Liverpool and Southport on Merseyrail's Northern Line and the school is a short walk from Formby and Freshfield stations. The school is easily accessible by car with Formby being serviced by good roads links from the north and south. There is also an extensive network of cycle routes in the local area which allow for generally 'hills-free' cycling! Formby has a population of circa 30,000 and is located 12 miles north of Liverpool, a vibrant and progressive city with distinct character. The Sefton coastline is beautiful and Formby benefits from the National Trust nature reserve, home to its famous red squirrels. Just to the south Anthony Gormley's Iron Men can be found on Crosby beach. Formby has excellent local amenities and the school is only a short walk from the village centre. Although generally an affluent area, house prices are varied and recently there has been considerable investment in new housing.

The school buildings are set in 30 acres of grounds. There is plenty of green space and the campus is lined with mature trees. The original building was erected in time for the school's opening in 1938 and further buildings were erected as the school population grew during the 1970s. A purpose built Sixth Form Centre was opened on site in 2004 and a new SEN unit building is due to open in Autumn 2024.

Due to the popularity of the school, most students live in very close proximity and walk or cycle to school with only a small number travelling from the north or south by train. As the school's admissions criteria gives high priority to siblings, families develop a long-standing relationship with the school as all of their children pass through.

Easily accessible from Formby:

- The Sefton Coastline (20 mins walk)
- Liverpool (30 minutes)
- Manchester (1 hour)
- The Lake District (1.5 hours)
- London (2 hours by train from Liverpool)
