Year 7 Curriculum – My World

Four years ago, the traditional approach of delivering all subjects to Year 7 discretely was replaced with an innovative curriculum model including My World, which encompasses History, Geography, RPE, PDE and ICT. All other subjects are still taught discretely, but still link to My World when appropriate. The rationale for the introduction of My World were to embed literacy development into the wider curriculum, strengthen student-teacher relationships and to increase aspiration through a challenging and rigorous curriculum offer.

My World is delivered by a single teacher for 6 hours a week, enabling students to form strong, positive relationships with one member of staff as soon as they arrive at Jack Hunt School. On the completion of an introduction block in September, students study half termly projects led by a driving question with a limited number of core themes woven amongst core content. Our current projects include:

Project 1 – Remembrance – why do we remember? [imperialism and alliances]

Project 2 – Peterborough – could Peterborough be the next city of culture? [community and regeneration]

Project 3 – Cities – why is a city not a village? [civilisation and urbanisation]

Project 4 – Sustainability – why is sustainability so difficult? [sustainability]

Project 5 – Medieval Powers – who was the most influential Medieval leader? [influence]

Project 6 – Mini EPQ – students create their own line of enquiry linked to one of our key themes.

Literacy Focus

The whole My World curriculum is underpinned by literacy, with a focus on non-fiction reading and writing; the successful candidate will be expected to contribute to this aspect of the curriculum in particular. Literacy forms a fundamental part of our assessment model and it is embedded into all My World lessons. One lesson a week is dedicated to the guided reading of rich, challenging texts followed by in-depth class discussion and comprehension tasks to aid the decoding of language, contextualising vocabulary and summarising key points. Every lesson includes literacy starters or an explicit literacy task within it that link directly back to the key themes and vocabulary of the project.

Culture of Excellence

We foster a culture of excellence in My World as we believe this is the best way to cultivate aspiration and to maintain high standards. We have a large emphasis on the re-drafting of work, with students spending a significant amount of time reviewing their writing and using our motto, 'Good, Better, Best' to produce high quality 'exhibition standard' final outcomes. At the end of every project, we hold an Exhibition of Excellence whereby students have the opportunity to showcase project work to their families and the community; these events are well attended by parents and have a positive impact on the work ethic of students as they know their end product will have an audience.

The Department

They are a dynamic staff team, all with their own subject specialisms that they teach alongside My World, two of whom are English specialists. The school demonstrated its commitment to the Year 7 curriculum by extensively renovating a teaching block to become its base; retractable classroom walls are an exciting element of this, which provides us with the flexibility to team teach, hold our student led exhibitions and welcome in external speakers. The team have all developed their knowledge and understanding of this curriculum model over time and so the successful candidate would receive a great deal of support in getting to grips with this alternative approach.

If you have any questions about the My World curriculum, the head of department is happy to arrange a phone call to discuss this further with you prior to application.

THE ENGLISH CURRICULUM AREA

English is taught by a dedicated team of teachers who strive to best prepare our students for the future by developing awareness of the world around us, aspiration for the future and excellence in English.

The curriculum area works collaboratively as a team and supports each other so we can get the best from ourselves and our students. We constantly seek opportunities to improve in order to enhance the progress our students can make. As a team, we share our views for all to have a voice and find solutions to any barriers to learning and progress. To ensure there is recognition within the team, we regularly celebrate our successes, no matter how small.

We deliver a knowledge-engaged and challenging curriculum that aims to build student confidence, progress and attainment, and will lead our students on a journey to success, both academically and through personal growth. To support this, we are conscious of cognition and apply our understanding of cognitive science in our curriculum. We also believe that our students should be exposed to a wide range of voices, particularly at KS3, and have the opportunity to experience as many narratives as possible by using Adichie's message in The Danger of a Single Story.

For KS3, students learn in mainly mixed ability classes with the underlying belief that readers are writers and writers are readers; therefore, we do not separate reading and writing skills, but see them as a combination to enhance each other. To enhance the knowledge and skills of our students, we take them on a journey through the history of English before focusing on critical moments in greater depth.

For KS4, students study AQA GCSE English Language and Edexcel English Literature, again in mainly mixed ability classes. Our study of the GCSE content commences at the beginning of year 10 by developing the knowledge students need to be successful in their GCSEs, from the literature texts to the knowledge that underpins the skills required to be successful.

We also offer A levels in both English Literature and English Language and Literature and actively promote these throughout our curriculum. Offering English beyond KS4, and supporting university applications to English based subjects, is very important to us and will continue to be part of our provision.

In terms of the leadership structure for English, we currently have the following:

- ✦ Curriculum Area Leader
- ✦ Deputy Curriculum Area Leader x2
- ✦ KS5 Co-ordinator.

Other allowances are held by other teachers in the curriculum area for responsibilities which are not English specific.

The curriculum area has its own suite of classrooms in a new block and its own office space. As part of our school's innovative approach, we have introduced iPads into our classrooms this year with KS4 and 5 and there are plans for potentially extending this to KS3 in the future. We use Bedrock learning, myON and the full suite of Apple and Microsoft programs to enhance the learning experience of our students.

The curriculum area works closely with the Learning Support Team and also runs successful intervention programmes with the support of a full time HLTA. Where possible this intervention programme supports students in their class but we also provide small group and one to one support as required.

English are committed to delivering an exciting and challenging curriculum that enthuses our students and promotes lifelong learning and a love for literature. We are keen for students to experience our subject beyond the classroom; therefore, we explore opportunities for our students to enjoy trips and visits to widen cultural capital and enhance the bond between our students and our subject.
