Braidwood is a very successful secondary school for Deaf young people aged 11-19 in purpose built accommodation. Our young people come from across the Midland region and represent the full academic spectrum. Many of our students have a range of special needs including communication and interaction; cognition and learning; social, emotional and mental health difficulties; and sensory and/or physical needs. We pursue a Total Communication approach which means we fit our methods of communication to the needs of each learner.

We are looking for a teacher who:

- Enjoys teaching English/humanities
- Has enthusiasm and commitment
- Is able to demonstrate good interpersonal skills
- Would like to teach Deaf learners

If you do not currently have Teacher of the Deaf status or BSL skills, we will provide you with all the support you need to obtain them.

We can offer:

- Excellent resources including iPad technology for every teacher and learner
- Tailor-made individual CPD opportunities
- Small class sizes
- A friendly, talented, multi-disciplinary team of colleagues.
