Ryan, current Head of Music:

"I'm Ryan, and I am Head of Music at The Stanway School. Music has always been a huge part of my life, and being able to share that passion with our students is incredibly rewarding. The level of musicianship here is fantastic, and it's a joy to see students grow in confidence as performers. One of the best things about working at Stanway is the Performing Arts team – a group of talented, supportive, and creative colleagues who make every day exciting. Our musical productions are of an exceptionally high standard, with our most recent show, Little Shop of Horrors, being a real highlight. The concerts and performances throughout the year showcase just how much music is valued in the school, and it's a privilege to have been part of it all."

Jon, Executive Headteacher:

"I am Jon, and music has been a huge part of my life, all through school days and beyond. That's why this role is so important to me; I want a flourishing department to nurture those who have already started to learn to play an instrument whilst also giving great opportunities to those who have not yet had that privilege. Seeing students perform is one of the best highlights of my year!"
