PSHE at Matravers

PSHE and, more recently RSE, are central within the curriculum offer at Matravers and make a highly valued contribution to the learning experience of pupils. PSHE is accessed by pupils throughout their education, with timetabled lessons in Key Stage 3 building the foundations for further study at Key Stage 4. From September 2022, the school is seeking to enhance its PSHE provision by appointing a subject specialist teacher with a passion for the subject.

At Matravers it is recognised our PSHE lessons and associated Pastoral Curriculum effectively support pupils in their personal development, readying them for the challenges they'll face as they mature and preparing them to contribute positively to society.

We hope that you will relish the opportunity of consolidating and developing the PSHE aspect our pupils educational experience.

Curricular Provision

The current PSHE curriculum is relevant and engaging offering pupils the opportunities to develop their understanding of critical life lessons which includes the recent SRE content.

The PSHE curriculum is delivered across the school and encompasses a wide range of topics including personal safety, relationship and sex education, social skills and tolerance.

At Matravers, we constantly review the curriculum offer to ensure that it is age appropriate and well-matched to the pupils' life experiences, enabling them to successfully develop transferable skills to support them in school and beyond.
