

Teacher of Psychology
Permanent, full time or part time considered
Salary: MPS1-UPS3 (£25,714 - £41,604)

We are looking for an enthusiastic specialist of Psychology. This role is open to Newly Qualified Teachers or those with more experience. The most important criteria for us is that you support our vision of “succeed and thrive” for all students; that you are willing to create an excellent climate for learning where students develop academic success, alongside a confidence and love of the subject.

John Taylor Multi Academy Trust (JTMAT) believes in the power of education to improve lives – and the world. As a partner school in JTMAT, we are seeking to appoint an enthusiastic, dynamic teacher to join our evolving organisation. We welcome applications from those people who want to work flexibly or if you are looking for a full time role.

John Taylor Free School at Tatenhill is a “young” school which opened in September 2018 with a full cohort of 210 Year 7 students. We are in the fortunate position of being oversubscribed for the first three years. From September 2021 we will have 930 students in years 7-10. The school will continue to grow until it reaches capacity with 1550 11 – 18-year-old students (including 350 at Post 16).

We are looking to recruit a teacher of Psychology who can teach across KS3 and KS4. Ideally, the successful candidate will also have experience at A Level. As we move into the next phase of provision, we are offering our students the chance to study the AQA Psychology GCSE course. This course allows our students to enjoy a range of fascinating range of topics including memory, perception, development and research methods. This is supported through the study of social context and behaviour including a focus on language, thought, communication, neuropsychology as well as psychological problems. We have many opportunities for a passionate Psychology teacher to shape the future of our curriculum offer and inspire our students to learn the fundamentals of psychology as well as developing critical analysis, independent thinking and research skills.

If you are excited about the prospect of joining a new school with a distinctive educational philosophy, we would like to hear from you. With our first cohort of KS4 students in 2021, you will play a vital role in shaping our GCSE provision. As a member of staff, you will be part of securing the vision of “succeed and thrive” for all members of our community. You will be prepared to be flexible, adaptable and dependable – you are willing to go above and beyond to help our students be outstanding learners and responsible young people.

If you have a passion for excellence and share our vision, we can offer you the opportunity to be part of a successful and progressive Trust, which is committed to ensuring learning is at the heart of all we do. As a part of the National Forest Teaching School Alliance and working with The Staffordshire Research School at John Taylor we will focus on your development, whatever stage you are at in your career. As a research informed school with a coaching for excellence model, we want you to succeed and thrive too.
