Teacher of Science (MPS: Full Time)

Required from September 2023.

The Bewdley School is seeking an exceptional teacher of science to join our highly skilled science team. Whilst our large and diverse team will consider applications from any science discipline, our greatest need at present is for a teacher of physics. It is essential that candidates can teach science to GCSE and the ability to teach physics at Advanced Level would be an advantage.

Computer science is also part of the science department offer, so the ability to teach computer science alongside science teaching is also a possibility. The successful candidate will work collaboratively alongside a dedicated team and the school would offer outstanding support and guidance.

The Bewdley School, serving the Georgian town of Bewdley and on the banks of the River Severn, is a fully inclusive and comprehensive school. Students are hungry to learn, their behaviour for learning being described in reviews as 'stunning'. If you would like to work with skilled colleagues in a supportive environment, where you are free to communicate your passion for your subject, please visit us.

We seek a colleague who has:

- Exceptional energy and enthusiasm
- A real depth of understanding of, and love for, their subject
- A sophisticated grasp of how children learn
- The optimism to imagine a better future

In return we offer:

- Students who are genuinely curious
- A welcoming, friendly and supportive culture
- Opportunities for personal development
- A commitment to rational and balanced leadership

This school is committed to safeguarding and promoting the welfare of children and young people and expects all staff and volunteers to share this commitment. The successful candidate will undertake an Enhanced Disclosure via the DBS, where appropriate.

Closing date for applications: Monday 6 February 2023 at 9AM.

Further information and an application form are available on the school website.
