Social Science Department

The Social Science Department is a thriving, ambitious and highly successful faculty at the heart of the school. It is a dynamic and growing department made up of 3 full-time and 3 part-time specialist teachers, delivering a rich and diverse curriculum to over 1,000 students across the school and post-16 provision.

The department offers a broad and academically rigorous range of subjects including:

- KS3 Religious Education
- KS4 Religious Education
- KS4 Sociology
- KS5 Law
- KS5 Psychology
- KS5 Philosophy and Ethics
- KS5 EPQ
- KS5 Sociology

Social Science is a high-profile and popular area of study within the school, with strong student uptake at both GCSE and Post-16. Our subjects play a central role in shaping students' understanding of society, ethics, justice, identity and social change, and we are proud of the impact we have on students' academic success and personal development.

A collaborative and supportive department

Teachers within the Social Science Department work in a highly collaborative and professional culture, with a strong commitment to high-quality teaching, reflective practice and continuous professional development. Centralised planning, shared resources and coordinated assessment systems help to manage workload effectively and allow staff to focus on delivering outstanding classroom practice and developing their professional expertise.

We place a strong emphasis on evidence-informed pedagogy, high expectations, and inclusive teaching approaches that enable all students to succeed. Our aim is to make Social Science subjects engaging, accessible and intellectually challenging, using a range of teaching strategies to meet diverse learning needs and inspire curiosity, debate and critical thinking.

Curriculum and enrichment

Our curriculum is carefully structured to provide clear progression from KS3 through to KS5, ensuring strong foundations for academic success. Students benefit from:

- A coherent and well-sequenced curriculum
- Strong assessment practices that are focused, purposeful and supportive of learning
- Targeted after-school intervention programmes to support progress and achievement

Beyond the classroom, the department is highly committed to enrichment and wider opportunities. We run a wide range of after-school intervention and support sessions, alongside a strong programme of careers education, guest speakers, educational visits and trips, helping students to connect their studies to real-world pathways and future aspirations.
