William Henry Smith Foundation

The William Henry Smith Foundation is a not-for-profit registered charity committed to transforming lives and breaking down barriers, empowering every individual to reach their full potential. The Foundation exists to improve outcomes for children and young adults who experience social, emotional and mental health (SEMH) challenges, providing outstanding provision through high-quality working, living and learning environments.

Everything the Foundation does is rooted in strong, trusting relationships and a psychologically and trauma-informed approach. By placing care, compassion and consistency at the centre of its work, the Foundation creates safe and supportive environments where children and young adults feel valued, understood and able to engage, grow and thrive.

At the heart of the Foundation's work is a holistic, personalised approach that recognises each individual's unique strengths, needs and aspirations. Through tailored support and nurturing environments, the Foundation enriches the lives of children and young adults, while also supporting their families, its people and the wider community. This approach ensures that everyone feels safe, valued and a deep sense of belonging.

Working closely with Local Authorities, partners, schools and community organisations, the William Henry Smith Foundation delivers outstanding education, care and therapeutic services that create lasting and meaningful impact. With a strong commitment to excellence, inclusion and wellbeing, the Foundation continues to champion positive change and build stronger, more resilient communities.

William Henry Smith School & Sixth Form is an outstanding day and residential special school for boys aged 5–19 with SEMH needs. Through a psychologically and trauma-informed, relationship-based approach, the school provides a safe, structured environment where pupils develop a strong sense of belonging and are supported to thrive academically, socially and emotionally. High expectations, personalised support and strong partnerships ensure every young person is empowered to overcome barriers and prepare confidently for the future

William Henry Smith Therapeutic Children's Home provides a safe, nurturing, psychologically and trauma-informed residential environment for children and young adults with complex social, emotional and mental health (SEMH) needs. Grounded in strong, trusting relationships, the home offers personalised therapeutic care that promotes stability, belonging and emotional wellbeing. Through consistency, understanding and high-quality support, children and young people are empowered to develop resilience and build positive futures.

William Henry Smith Specialist College provides a safe, structured and nurturing environment where young people aged 16 – 25 develop a strong sense of belonging and are supported to achieve meaningful academic, vocational and personal outcomes. Through personalised pathways, high expectations and psychologically and trauma-informed, relationship-based approach, the College prepares students for adulthood, further education, employment and independent living.

William Henry Smith Specialist Services works in collaboration with a wide range of organisations to strengthen provision and improve outcomes for children and young adults with social, emotional and mental health (SEMH) needs. We provide bespoke training, consultancy and specialist guidance to schools, settings and services, supporting the development of psychologically and trauma-informed practice, inclusive cultures and effective systems of support. Our work is underpinned by strong values, social responsibility and a commitment to sharing effective practice. We actively contribute to research, publications and professional learning and regularly present at national conferences and professional forums. Through national networks such as NASS, NATSPEC and Engage, we extend our reach and impact, offering targeted support that strengthens education and social care provision locally, regionally and nationally

CEO Welcome

As CEO and Executive Principal of the William Henry Smith Foundation, encompassing William Henry Smith School & Sixth Form, William Henry Smith Specialist College, and William Henry Smith Therapeutic Children's Home, I am deeply committed to transforming the lives of children and young adults. Our Foundation is a vibrant, multi-site community delivering high-quality education, care, health, and therapeutic support. Everything we do is rooted in strong relationships and a trauma-informed approach. We look beyond presenting behaviours, prioritising safety, trust, compassion, and emotional well-being so that every child and young adult feels understood, valued, and able to flourish.

My career began in 1987 in residential care, where I discovered a profound sense of purpose, one that has shaped and sustained my leadership for nearly four decades. Since then, I have progressed through a breadth of senior roles across both care and education, including Deputy Principal, Principal, and now CEO and Executive Principal. Throughout my journey, I have held fast to the belief that education is a transformative force: a pathway to resilience, belonging, and opportunity. This belief continues to guide my commitment to creating environments where children and young adults experience not only learning, but connection, trust, and authentic understanding.

I am a leader who values authenticity, continuous learning, and the courage found in vulnerability. At the William Henry Smith Foundation, we strive for excellence not only for our students, but also for our staff, families, and wider community. We are dedicated to sharing learning, strengthening professional practice, and leading positive change, locally and nationally, so that more children and young adults benefit from environments built on relational safety and neuro-affirming practice.

Beyond my professional life, I am married, a proud mother of two sons, and a devoted grandmother. Fitness and martial arts play an important role in my own well-being: I train regularly in strength and Olympic lifting, speed and agility work, and kickboxing, and I am currently working towards my black belt. This journey strengthens my discipline, resilience, and focus – qualities I bring into my leadership every day.

I believe in what I call work-life brilliance: continually learning, reflecting, and growing while inspiring others to do the same. My leadership is grounded in compassion, resilience, and authenticity, and I hope to encourage others to embrace these values in their own professional and personal journeys.

Safeguarding

The William Henry Smith Foundation is committed to safeguarding and promoting the welfare of children and adults and expects all staff to share this commitment. The foundation has effective child and adult protection policies which provide clear direction to staff and others about expected codes of behaviour in dealing with safeguarding issues. Our recruitment process aims to create and maintain a safe workforce and contains robust vetting procedures. The successful applicant will be appointed subject to references and enhanced DBS check (this is a position working in regulated activity). The successful candidate will be subject to a rigorous safer recruitment process and must adhere to a strict code of conduct regarding behaviour at all times. Shortlisted candidates will be subject to online searches in accordance with KCSIE. The Foundation is also committed to promoting the spiritual, moral, social and cultural development of both students and staff and reflects life in Modern Britain.

Our Core Values

Our Vision To transform lives and breakdown barriers, empowering every individual to reach their fullest potential.

Our Mission To champion a holistic and tailored approach, enriching the lives of children and young adults, their families, our people, and the wider community.

Unwavering integrity

We lead with honesty, purpose, and unshakeable belief in what we do.

We hold ourselves to the highest standard, always keep our word, and work hard to earn trust from the children, young adults, families and people we serve, leaving a lasting mark that extends beyond the classroom

Close collaboration

It takes a village to raise a child, and that village starts with us. We're a team of listeners, collaborators, and supporters who adopt a curious and compassionate approach, building trusting relationships with local authorities, families, children and young adults, and our people. By understanding backgrounds, behaviours and lifelong ambitions, we strive to build individualised pathways that are guided, encouraged, nurtured by specialists.

Compassionate curiosity

Every person's story is unique, and we take the time to understand it. We ask why and dig deeper to uncover the bigger picture. With open arms and open minds, we foster safe and nurturing spaces where children, young adults, families, and communities feel fully supported. We listen without prejudice and respond with care, helping people rewrite difficult chapters into stories of growth, resilience, and limitless possibilities

Empowering community

We are a thriving village where every voice matters, and everyone is valued. By embracing diversity in all its forms, we foster an enriching environment where individuals feel seen, heard, and supported around the clock. This applies to families, communities, and our people as well as children and young adults, with a deep sense of belonging echoing throughout everything we do

Visionary thinking

We know that to inspire others, we must feel inspired ourselves. That's why we set the highest standards. We lead by example, role modelling behaviours that help shape those around us. With enthusiasm, optimism, and unwavering belief in children, young adults, and our people, we nurture an environment where everyone is empowered to surpass what they thought possible. Our shared purpose, expert knowledge, and passion for progress drive us to build something even bigger than ourselves.

Education at WHSS – Becoming the Best They Can Be

At The William Henry Smith School & Sixth Form, our vision is clear: every young person is supported to become the very best they can be.

As a specialist school, we are proud of our highly skilled and dedicated team, including expert teachers, committed support staff, experienced residential care professionals, and specialist health and therapeutic practitioners. Together, we work as a truly multidisciplinary team, ensuring that every student benefits from a joined-up, holistic approach to their education and wellbeing.

We create a nurturing, structured, and empowering environment that is carefully tailored to each student's unique strengths and needs. Our 24-hour curriculum recognises that learning extends beyond the classroom, embedding therapeutic support, character development, enrichment, and life skills alongside academic achievement.

We are deeply committed to fostering personal growth, resilience, self-belief, and emotional intelligence. Through positive relationships, high expectations, and personalised pathways, we support students to develop confidence, independence, and the skills they need for lifelong success. Educational achievement matters — but equally important is helping young people build the character, self-worth, and emotional literacy that enable them to thrive in the world beyond school.

Our approach is rooted in Quality of Life principles, Positive Behaviour Support, and values-based recognition, ensuring that students feel safe, respected, and celebrated for who they are and who they are becoming.

We provide a nurturing, structured, and empowering environment, carefully tailored to each student's unique strengths, aspirations, and needs. Pivotal to this, is our commitment to academic pathways that are thoughtfully designed around every student's individual needs, aspirations, and attainment levels. Whether following accredited qualifications, vocational programmes, or personalised learning routes, each pathway is ambitious, meaningful, and responsive, ensuring that every learner is appropriately challenged, stretched and supported to succeed, whatever this may be.

Purpose of the Role

Teaching Support Practitioner

As a Teaching Support Practitioner, you will support students with SEMH and associated SEND to feel safe, engage in learning, achieve their potential and become increasingly independent. Working under the direction of teachers, you will help make the curriculum accessible through targeted interventions, agreed support strategies and positive relationships with students and families.

You will contribute to students' learning, wellbeing and personal development, working closely with teachers, therapists and other professionals to deliver consistent support and promote positive outcomes. The teacher retains responsibility for curriculum planning, teaching and assessment, while you implement agreed provision and contribute observations and evidence of progress.

Job Description

Working Conditions

The role is based within a specialist SEMH provision and involves regular direct work with children and young people. Duties include frequent movement between classrooms, intervention spaces and outdoor learning environments, sustained concentration, record keeping, and working collaboratively with colleagues, families and professionals.

The role may involve:

- Lone working.
- Display Screen Equipment (DSE) use.
- Lifting and carrying equipment or supporting individuals (up to 10kg).
- Supporting students with a range of social, emotional and behavioural needs.
- Responding calmly to emotional distress, dysregulation and challenging behaviour, including verbal or physical aggression.
- The use of approved physical behaviour management techniques (PRICE trained).
- Exposure to biological hazards, including blood and bodily fluids, and occasional food handling activities.
- Balancing competing priorities and adapting support in response to changing circumstances.

The role regularly involves exposure to emotionally demanding situations and requires resilience, patience, sound professional judgement and emotional consistency. You will be expected to work with greater independence whilst remaining within agreed intervention plans, professional boundaries and established procedures.
