Job Description

Temporary Teacher of English

DETAILS OF THE POST

This temporary post is required as soon as possible.

The position offers excellent prospects for a committed and enthusiastic candidate to work in a highly effective, dynamic and very successful English Department. We are looking to appoint an excellent teacher to teach English Language and English Literature to GCSE. The ideal candidate will be a teacher who can inspire and bring out the best in all our students.

All teachers are expected to act as form tutors and to assist with the extra-curricular activities of the school and the teaching of associated subjects.

The school's Pay Policy recognises salary portability and will honour an applicant's existing salary progression in most cases.

THE DEPARTMENT

The English Department currently consists of seven full time and four part time members of staff. There are strong links with the separately organised Drama and Media Studies Departments. The English Department is highly successful and effective; staff are committed to maximising student achievement and examination results in the department are excellent.

CURRICULUM

Students in Years 7 and 8 are well established on Programmes of Study which meet the requirements of the National Curriculum. Literacy is well integrated into teaching and learning at all levels. Members of the department work as a team to address initiatives, to update resources and materials, to make the process of assessment relevant and meaningful and to enhance the experience of students in the classroom. A range of teaching and learning styles is encouraged at all levels, with students quick to respond to group work, individually negotiated tasks or whole class activities. The department is involved in the Initial Teacher Education programme when required.

At GCSE our students work towards the AQA specifications for English Language and English Literature, with the vast majority achieving Levels 7-9.

At A Level, English Literature continues to be a very strong and popular subject at A Level, usually with two teaching groups. Students study the AQA 'A' specification which, together with set texts for examination, includes coursework and making challenging connections between texts. English Language A Level is also a popular and successful course.

RESOURCES

The English Department aims to create a stimulating environment across its eight dedicated classrooms, with lively displays of students' work. The department is very well equipped with a range of source books, texts, audio-visual and computer resources. There are three rooms with ICT equipment and laptops are available to supplement classroom computers.

The department provides a range of support materials, lesson activities and resources via Teams, its Virtual Learning Environment. We aim for our students to become more independent and active in their learning by the use of this valuable resource. The work of our students is also explored and analysed using exam board results analysis services to inform future planning and teaching.

EXTRA CURRICULAR ACTIVITIES

Visiting poets, writers, theatre groups and other speakers contribute to the drive for vitality and enrichment within and beyond the curriculum. Activities extend beyond the timetabled curriculum with theatre visits, A Level conferences, Film Club, Sixth Form Prefects, World Book Day events, creative writing group, reading groups, activities shadowing the Carnegie Award, and competitions for Year 7 and Year 8 students.

ADDITIONAL SUPPORT FOR STUDENTS

To provide additional support for students, the department offers literacy sessions and examination booster sessions for targeted students, and English Prefects in Year 12 and Year 13 act as mentors for younger students as required.
